Introduction: About Coincidences, About This Book ................................. 1

Part I
Coincidences in the Hebrew Language:
Messages of Design

Chapter 1  The Structure of the Hebrew Language................................. 11
  1.1  The Structure of a Hebrew Word (Biblical Only) ....................... 11
  1.2  Letters and Their Meanings......................................................... 13
  1.3  Precision of Biblical Language .................................................. 16
    1.3.1  The Donkey (Ass) in the Bible .............................................. 17
    1.3.2  “Which God had created to do” (Gen. 2:3) ......................... 19
    1.3.3  “Thou shalt not ... put a stumbling block before the blind” (Lev. 19:14) ................................................................. 20
    1.3.4  “And Thou shalt not favor a poor man in his cause” (Exod. 23:3) ........................................................................ 22
    1.3.5  Eda and Kohila ................................................................. 23
    1.3.6  Why Was the Earth Punished? (Gen. 3:17) ......................... 26
    1.3.7  “Please be fruitful and multiply,” with Variations ............... 27
    1.3.8  Summary .............................................................................. 28
  1.4  Playing with Gematria: An Acceptable Practice (Not Here) .......... 29
Chapter 2  Cases of Design in the Hebrew Language

2.1  Information in a Hebrew Word: Visible and Hidden

2.1.1  Designed Words with Visible Information (and Message)........... 31
2.1.2  Designed Words with Hidden Information.................................... 39
2.1.3  Repeated Single Digit in the Value of a Hebrew Word............ 50

2.2  Information in Interrelated Hebrew Words, Visible and Hidden.... 51

2.2.1  Successive Generations in the Family and in a ... Tree.............. 52
2.2.2  The Route of Water in Nature...................................................... 54
2.2.3  Conclusions ............................................................................. 56

2.3  Information in Unrelated Hebrew Words of a Common Root........ 56

2.4  Information in Hebrew Words Read in Reverse......................... 59

Part II
Coincidences in the Hebrew Language:
Hidden, Unexpected Information

Chapter 3  “Randomness” and “Cold”

3.1  Introduction......................................................................................... 65

3.2  Two Concepts of Entropy ................................................................. 66

3.2.1  Information (Shannon Entropy)....................................................... 66
3.2.2  Thermodynamics (Boltzmann Entropy)............................................ 68
3.2.3  About the Equivalence of the Two Concepts of Entropy.............. 70
3.2.4  Summary of Main Points ................................................................. 70

3.3  “Randomness” in Biblical Hebrew and in the Bible...................... 71

3.4  “Randomness” and “Cold” ............................................................... 77

Summary.................................................................................................. 78

Chapter 4  The Name of God (Jehovah)

4.1  The Divine in Hebrew and in English.............................................. 79
4.2  Jehovah and God: Analysis............................................................... 81
4.3  Higher Dimensions in Modern Cosmologies.................................... 84
4.4  Summary of Main Points................................................................. 89

Chapter 5  “Double” and a Message of Symmetry

5.1  Introduction......................................................................................... 90
5.2  “Jerusalem”...................................................................................... 91

Chapter 13 Metals and Other Substances

13.1 Introduction .................................................. 181
13.2 Selecting and Preparing the Sample: Metals ...................... 181
   13.2.1 Selecting the Sample (Metals) ............................... 181
   13.2.2 Determining Hebrew Names and Their Numerical Values (Metals) .......... 182
   13.2.3 Values of the Analyzed Physical Property (Metals) ............... 185
13.3 Selecting and Preparing the Sample: Other Substances .......... 186
   13.3.1 Selecting the Sample (Substances) ........................... 186
   13.3.2 Determining Hebrew Names and Their Numerical Values (Substances) ........ 188
   13.3.3 Values of the Analyzed Physical Property (Substances) ............ 190
13.4 Statistical Analysis ............................................. 192
   13.4.1 Metals ...................................................... 192
   13.4.2 Substances .................................................. 193
13.5 Summary ....................................................... 196

Part III Coincidences in the Bible

Chapter 14 “In the beginning ... the earth was without form and void” (?) ............................. 199
   14.1 Biblical Description of the Beginning and Its Hebrew Context .... 199
   14.2 Cosmological Theories of the Beginning ........................ 204
   14.3 Summary of Main Points ....................................... 207

Chapter 15 Laban: The Case of a Lost Identity ......................... 209
   15.1 Introduction .................................................. 209
   15.2 Mixing Laban’s Parents ....................................... 210
   15.3 Mixing Laban’s Children ..................................... 211
   15.4 Mixing Religious Faiths ...................................... 212
   15.5 Mixing Languages ............................................ 212
   15.6 Mixing Property .............................................. 212
   15.7 What is Laban in Hebrew? .................................... 213
Chapter 16 Special Letters in the Bible .............................................. 216
  16.1 Introduction ........................................................................ 216
  16.1.1 Small and Large Letters ............................................... 217
  16.1.2 Extra and Missing Letters .............................................. 220
  16.1.3 Differently Read than Written ...................................... 220
  16.2 The Case of Haman's Sons .................................................. 221
  16.3 The Case of Pi (\(\pi\)) ........................................................ 225

Chapter 17 Biblical Knowledge, Good and Bad .................................. 229
  17.1 Introduction ........................................................................ 229
  17.2 "Good" and "Bad" ............................................................... 230
  17.3 Biblical Knowledge ........................................................... 235
  17.4 Hegel's Theory of Knowledge ............................................. 236
  17.5 Synthesis of "Good," "Bad," and "Knowledge" ....................... 237

Part IV
Supplementary Coincidences

Chapter 18 The Secret of Ibur ......................................................... 241

Chapter 19 Non-Hebrew Names of Self-Proclaimed Foes
  of the People of Israel ............................................................ 247
  19.1 Introduction ........................................................................ 247
  19.2 The Nazis ........................................................................... 248
  19.3 Hamas ................................................................................. 248
  19.4 Arafat ................................................................................ 250
  19.5 The Philistines (Biblical Times) ............................................ 251
  19.6 Pharaoh, King of Egypt (Biblical Times) .............................. 252

Chapter 20 Coincidences in Jewish History and Beyond ..................... 254
  20.1 Introduction ........................................................................ 254
  20.2 Two Events of Recent History ............................................ 255
     20.2.1 Two Jewish Festivities:
        Commemorating a Disaster and a Rescue from One ............... 255
     20.2.2 A Gathering Threat and the Rescue
        Two Recent Historical Events ............................................ 256
  20.2.3 A Personal Comment ..................................................... 258
Contents

20.3 The Month of Iyar .................................................. 259
   20.3.1 Exodus .................................................. 259
   20.3.2 Entering the Promised Land .................................. 259
   20.3.3 Building the First Temple .................................. 260
   20.3.4 Building the Second Temple .................................. 260
   20.3.5 Declaration of Independence .................................. 261
   20.3.6 The Six-Day War ........................................... 261
   20.3.7 The Month of Iyar in Jewish Tradition ....................... 262
   20.3.8 Some Major Iyar Events .................................... 263

20.4 Everyday Coincidences and Their Lessons .... 265

Chapter 21 Integration of the Statistical Analyses ........ 268

Chapter 22 Genesis Creation Story and
   Recent Cosmological Findings—A Statistical Evaluation .... 271
   22.1 Abstract and Structure of the Chapter ..................... 271
   22.2 Introduction ................................................. 271
   22.3 The Data .................................................. 273
       22.3.1 Definition of Events .................................. 273
       22.3.2 Light ................................................ 275
       22.3.3 Formation of First Large-scale
              Celestial Structures .................................. 276
       22.3.4 Creation of Sun and Moon .............................. 278
       22.3.5 Creation of Life on Earth .............................. 278
       22.3.6 Creation of Mankind .................................. 280
   22.4 Statistical Analysis and Predictions ..................... 282
       22.4.1 Statistical Analysis of the Complete Sample .......... 282
       22.4.2 Statistical Analysis of the Reduced Sample
              (observations 2 and 5 excluded) ...................... 283
       22.4.3 Scientific Prediction?? ................................. 284
   22.5 Methodological Aspects—Some Comments .................. 285
       22.5.1 Selection of X Values (Genesis creation story) ..... 285
       22.5.2 The Nature of Scientific Empirical Modeling ........ 286
       22.5.3 Why Not Publish in Recognized Scientific Journals? 287
   22.6 Conclusions ................................................. 288

Epilogue: Some Personal Reflections ......................... 289
Appendix ........................................................................................................... 293
Hebrew Words in Latin Letters ........................................................................ 293
