ISRAEL AT THE CROSSROADS: State and Society Facing a Political Upheaval

EAIS 11th Annual Conference on Israel Studies
8-10 OCTOBER 2023

organized by

The EAIS is grateful for the support of our sponsor and partners
Dear Delegates and Colleagues,

This is a very special time for Israel and a special conference for the EAIS. The rupture in Israeli society grew critically deep and the political protests reached an unprecedented level. Legal changes initiated this year prompted strong critique from many actors within Israel and abroad. EAIS also issued the statement voicing its concern with “looming changes in the state’s political and legal system, and the growing support for racism and incitement”. It is our responsibility to participate in the public debate at such a pivotal moment. We hope to provide a forum that will welcome different voices and advance discussions about recent developments in Israel.

For the EAIS, this conference is special also because for the first time it will be held in Israel. I’d like to thank Ben-Gurion University of the Negev (BGU) for hosting this academic event. We are thrilled to organize the EAIS 11th Annual Conference in the vibrant academic environment together with BGU academics who for years have supported our activities. The conference is unique also because it is hosted by two institutes located in two different municipalities – Beer Sheva and Sde Boker. I greatly appreciate the support of both the Simone Veil Research Centre for Contemporary European Studies and the Ben-Gurion Research Institute for the Study of Israel and Zionism. I believe that our common efforts will bear the fruit of an inspiring and impactful academic event.

This is a new chapter for the EAIS as the term of the new Board has started this year. On this occasion, I’d like to express my gratitude to Joanna Dyduch who acted as a chair of the association for the last 6 years. Your dedication and unflinching leadership let the EAIS develop and consolidate its position in international academia.

Dear participants, thank you for being a part of our community. I truly hope that you will have a good and stimulating experience at the EAIS 11th Annual Conference.

I would like to welcome all the participants of the 11th Annual Conference of the European Association of Israel Studies to Ben-Gurion University of the Negev. The first day of your conference will be held at our Sde Boker Campus where the archives of David Ben-Gurion, the first prime minister of Israel and our namesake are kept, and close to the place where he and his wife, Paula, are buried. It is from his vision and understanding of the significance of this part of the country for the future of Israel, that we draw our inspiration. From our location in the Negev, we do our utmost to produce cutting-edge research in fields as diverse as desert agriculture, AI and Jewish Thought and educate generations of young Israelis, along with international students, who go on to contribute to the good of global society and this country.

The topic of your conference is very timely and important, as is the broader setting and comparison with processes which are happening in Europe. I, along with many of my colleagues, are very concerned with the legislative progress and the effect it will have on our liberal democracy and academia. Many of the issues you will be touching on and questions that will be asked are crucial for our future as a thriving democracy and I look forward to reading the results of your deliberations in future publications.

I wish you all a stimulating and beneficial conference at our university.
Dear EAIS Members and Colleagues,

On behalf of the Simone Veil Research Centre for Contemporary European Studies at Ben-Gurion University of the Negev (BGU), I would like to welcome you to Ben-Gurion University of the Negev.

Our Centre was established in 2003, to offer students and faculty the opportunity to deepen and enhance their knowledge of contemporary political and social developments in Europe, as well as to promote greater awareness within Israel of the growing importance of the European Union (EU).

Our mission is to enable BA, MA and Ph.D. level students, from all disciplines, including those who do not usually come into contact with European integration studies, an opportunity to gain a deeper knowledge and understanding of the integration process and its implications for European citizenship and the global community. To this effect, The Simon Veil Research Centre coordinates the National Jean Monnet Centre of Excellence and a Jean Monnet Chair ad personam in European Integration Studies, develops joint research projects with European research institutions, organises international conferences and workshops and brings contemporary European culture to BGU through seminars, films, and talks by distinguished European figures. In this light, it was an obvious step on our behalf, to host the EAIS annual conference at BGU, to promote the mutual understanding of Europe and Israel.

We are proud to co-host the EAIS annual conference at BGU, and hope you have a fruitful, meaningful, academic and personal experience during your stay in Israel.

Prof. Guy Ben-Porat
Chair of the Simone Veil Research Centre for Contemporary European Studies, Ben-Gurion University of the Negev

Prof. Avi Bareli
Director of the Ben-Gurion Research Institute for the Study of Israel and Zionism, Ben-Gurion University of the Negev

Dear Conference Participants,

The Ben-Gurion Institute for the Study of Israel and Zionism at Ben-Gurion University is happy and proud to host the opening of the EAIS annual conference. We consider ourselves loyal partners of the EAIS in promoting research on the fascinating phenomenon called Israel.

The Ben-Gurion Institute for the Study of Israel and Zionism is a home for rich multidisciplinary research on Israel and Zionism, which is carried out by faculty members, research fellows and research students. We teach undergraduate, graduate, and postgraduate students. The Ben-Gurion Institute operates the Ben-Gurion Archive, a valuable empirical treasure, an academic press that publishes two leading scientific journals, ‘YUNIM’ and ‘ISRAEL STUDIES’, and a series of research monographs. The Azrieli Center for Israel Studies, which operates within the Institute, is a creative and highly influential research center in the field.

We welcome the conference members and wish them fruitful discussions!
ORGANIZER

The European Association of Israel Studies (EAIS) is an independent, international, scholarly association devoted to the academic study of Israel. The EAIS is committed to rigorous academic scholarship about Israel and high-quality research and teaching in this area, as well as increasing the breadth of study of this important part of the Middle East. Our mission is to promote, encourage, and support the independent, academic study of Israel across Europe.
